Deeper in Christ, further into the world.

July 2017 Volume 51-07

Small World. Big God.

By Lloyd Lunceford

We live in an interconnected world. In Information Technology and Communications. In Economics and Personal Finance. In Politics. Sports. Education. Medicine. It is a global village.

Global communications, for example, have become instantaneous. The internet is worldwide. You can send an email from Baton Rouge and immediately communicate with someone across the Atlantic. With Skype, you can talk face-to-face with anyone on the planet. In Finance, traders follow the Nikkei as much as the S&P 500. OPEC affects the price you pay at the pump and Beijing affects the price you pay at Home Depot. International events also affect U.S. government strategies and policies. Sarin gas in Syria. Trade policy in China. Nuclear tests on the Korean peninsula. Scary stuff, to be sure. (Thankfully, we can place our cares on God, who cares for us.)

Should it be any surprise that our personal walk with Christ and our participation in our local church community is, by God's design, also part of a global movement? When God first called Abraham, God said that through Abraham he would bless "all the families of the earth." From the start, God had the whole world in mind. Through the prophet Joel, God said "[I]t shall come to pass that I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh." At Jesus' baptism John the others in our own community. If our vision stops at the city limits, though, then we will miss the full picture. God wants us to see both near and far. Make no mistake. Jesus' objective was to reach the world.

He ordered his life by this. Men were his method but all humanity was his goal. He invested his time in training the twelve – disciples who would multiply and make more Christ-followers who would reach the world. Jesus' final words to his disciples were "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations . . ." The Apostle Paul explained in II Corinthians that God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself—and has now entrusted that message to us. We are now Christ's ambassadors. Today God makes his appeal through us. On behalf of Christ, the Bible says, we are to implore others to be reconciled to God.

In what way is your faith a global faith? How can you become more engaged in Christ's worldwide movement? Through the Holy Spirit who dwells within each believer, God can use you to help shelter the homeless, feed the hungry, and clothe the naked –

Baptist said, "Behold, the Lamb of God that takes away the sin of the world." John the Apostle famously wrote, "For God so loved the world . . ." We are told in Acts that the reach of God's plan for humankind is global, "to Judea, Samaria, and to the uttermost part of the earth." There is a whole world out there in need, and what it needs most is the Savior.

We are to "seek the welfare" of our city of course, by doing good works that help

Mixing Up the Summer Schedule

The summer months are a bit different this year. Combined worship services are offered four of the five Sundays in July and August has a global missions theme.

JULY SCHEDULE:

First Presbyterian will have just one combined worship service at 10.30 am in the Sanctuary on July 2, 9, 16 and 23 (July 30 resumes the normal three service schedule). We will gather in our Sunday school classrooms at 9.30 am before joining together for worship. Two class options are available and are geared toward a different aspect of living the Christian life.

There is no Sunday school on Sunday, July 2 due to the holiday weekend.

The following class options are for July 9-23.

Track One:

Sacred Marriage by Gary Thomas “doesn't tell you how to build a better marriage—it shows how your marriage can help you deepen your relationship with God.” This class will be based on Thomas' book featuring a short video, teaching and discussion.

Track Two:

Seeing and Savoring Jesus by John Piper focuses on what it looks like to “see and savor” Jesus. Three couples (one in their 20/30s, one in their 40s and one in their 70s) will teach and share how they savor Jesus in their stage of life. This will be a relational time with fun stories.

AUGUST SCHEDULE:

August is “global missions month” with the theme of “Catch the Vision!” We are excited to highlight many of our mission partners, International Friendship Partners and many of our overseas mission trips. Both the children's and adult's Sunday school classes will follow the Center for Mission Mobilization's Xplore workbook on July 30, August 6 and August 13.

The Global Missions Conference takes place on Saturday, August 19 and Sunday, August 20. On Sunday, August 20, Dr. Greg Livingstone will teach a combined adult Sunday school in the Sanctuary. Steve Douglass of Cru (Campus Crusade for Christ) will be our guest preacher.

We Love A Congregational Lunch!

We love congregational lunches! What a great opportunity to fellowship with members of the church you don't normally see as well as invite a guest. Join us Sunday, July 23 after our last July combined worship service for a chicken and waffles picnic in the gym. The congregation is asked to please bring a dessert. $5 per person or $20 per family to be paid at the door.

It's That Time Again

The First Presbyterian Church Officer Nominating Committee nominates church officers (Elders and Deacons) by receiving suggested names of members from the congregation, prayerfully preparing a slate and presenting the slate at the annual congregational meeting in October for election by the congregation.

The first duty of a Deacon is to have sympathy and compassion and exhibit a servant's heart. Duties may include visiting the sick and homebound, as well as caring for the maintenance and preparation of the church facilities. A nominated Deacon should be steady, reliable and well thought of by all.

Elders are to represent the people of the congregation working alongside the Teaching

Elders in the spiritual oversight of the Church. Elders are to study the Word and become equipped to teach, be adept at leading worship and prayer, regularly visit the sick and homebound, assist in the spiritual development of the children of the congregation, watch for those who stray from the Lord and be an example to all.

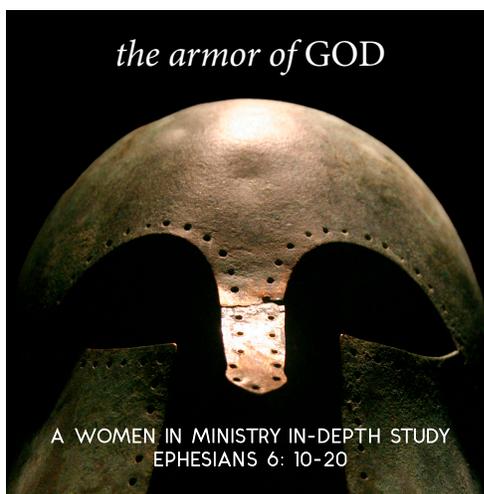

Please meditate on 1 Timothy 3 and Titus 1 where God gives us his description of officers. Further information from the EPC Book of Order can be found at the Connection Center along with suggestion cards. Cards are also available in the pew racks as well as on the church website (fpcbr.org). Your nominations may be placed in the offering plate or mailed to Jaci Gaspard in the church office by the end of July.

Are You Asleep on Your Sword?

Are you actively engaged in the daily battle of your life? Or are you asleep on your sword? Have you ever considered how our Almighty God has already equipped you, his beloved daughter, to stand in victory in the face of adversity?

Join us for an in-depth study of Ephesians 6: 10-20. A dynamic group of women will take us deep into the text. Come dust off your armor and prepare for battle.

This five-week study begins Tuesday, July 11 at 6.30 pm at the home of Joann Thurston (2304 Fairway Drive).

Women's Summer Socials

Women in Ministry is having its second "Now That's a Good Question" summer social. We're going to give you an opportunity to ask that "dumb" question anonymously.

Join us on Tuesday, July 11 for fellowship and this fun format where a panel of pastor(s) and trained women will answer some commonly asked questions on theology, the church and Christian life.

The luncheon begins at 11.30 am in the reception room. It'll be fun so bring a friend and don't forget to bring your questions.

$10 per person. Register online or at the Connection Center. Childcare provided.

PARENTING CORNER By Audra Cato, Director of Children's Ministry

Do you know what the most important tool is for Christian parenting? Your own relationship with Christ. Seek the Lord in his Word daily so that your own relationship with Christ will deepen. Your own walk with the Lord through prayer and the daily reading of his Word will equip you on how to have healthy conversations and discussions with your children. I know life is busy. In a world that offers us way too much we feel as though there is no time for what is important. However, God's mercies are new every morning and he wants to care for you and grow you closer to him so you may be used to point your kids to the gospel. He loves your children far more perfectly than we ever will and he wants us to rely on him and grow deeper in his Word. Let us start with the Word of God. It is the Scriptures that give us wisdom to minister to our children.

"This is our tool, because it is his tool. This is our means of doing ministry, because it is his means of doing ministry— both in us and through us." - Rev. Jason Helopoulos

Story Time

You and your children are invited to join us in the library on July 6 and July 27 from 10 to 11.30 am for story time and a play date. Parents are welcome to bring bag lunches for further fellowship. Contact Audra Cato if you have any questions (620.0243).

and widen the global circle of faith of those who have been transformed through trusting Christ as Savior and have come to know God’s love and forgiveness.

This year our church has declared August “global missions month.” The theme is “Catch the Vision!” A special conference on August 19 and 20 with two internationally renowned speakers will highlight the month. Throughout August, though, we hope each week to increase awareness about global missions in the life of our church. We hope you will reflect on the many exciting and creative ways you can participate in changing the world for Christ and his Kingdom. As a congregation, let’s “catch the vision” together!
